Feed Information

Seed Mix: a combination of millet, sunflower and other grains suited to a wide variety of birds

Black Sunflower: also called 'oil seed', popular with many birds, high in calories

Sunflower hearts: hulled grey sunflower seed

Millet: a grain popular with many small seed-eaters and ground-feeding birds

Peanut Picks or 'pick-outs': broken peanut pieces, high in calories

Peanut hearts: shelled peanuts

Peanut butter: can be mixed with suet or grains, appeals to many birds

Safflower: high in calories, sometimes ignored by squirrels

Whole corn: usually suited only to larger birds

Crack corn: medium in calories, liked by many common birds such as Sparrows

Suet: usually beet suet, great for insect eaters and others in winter for high calorie content

Wheat: enjoyed by larger birds and ground feeders

Nectar: good calorie source for fruit eaters, the only food for Hummingbirds

Fruit: valuable vitamin source in cold weather, liked by many birds

Thistle: Niger thistle seed, a favorite of small seed-eaters like Chickadees and Finches

Baked goods: popular with ducks and geese, and many more 'domestic' birds

Raisins: especially good in the winter as a source of calories for many birds
